Dr. Dennis talks about “The Gods Must Be Us” and his excitement for the potentials for growth!

Transcript of Video:

I’m Dennis Clegg, author of The Gods Must Be Us: When Fiction Becomes a Miracle.

If you’re the kind of person who’s very open minded, who can have your beliefs—your thoughts of the way things are in the world—challenged, and consider that maybe there’s something else. If you like to dive deeply into yourself, and you love transformation, this book is absolutely for you.

The Gods Must Be Us follows several characters who are working on their personal growth. Personal growth also equates to spiritual growth, not necessarily religiousness. Through their association with one another, they decide to set up their idea of an ideal community, an ideal lifestyle. And part of that is their concern for the planet and a number of things that we’ve seen in doomsday stories that might possibly happen that could end life on the planet or at least put man in the position of having to start over again.

I don’t know what more to say about the book. I love it, I’m enthusiastic about it. I can hardly wait to share it with each and every one of you who are my tribe. And I really, really hope that the outcome of this is that we have a lot of cool conversations with each other—on the internet, in person; that we meet, that we share our insights and our growth and realize and come together as our tribe.

The Gods Must Be Us I believe is going to be exactly the thing that will attract us and bring us together.

It's available worldwide through Balboa Press.
